CONTEMPLATIVE SOUL VERSUS EXOTIC SPIRIT

Guarana is a climbing plant native to the Amazon basin, where it grows spontaneously along the rivers. It is grown as a shrub and reaches 2 m in height. In the native Indian language, the word guarana means "human eye" and the plant is protected by the goddess of beauty and life. Considered by the Native American Indians as an elixir of life, its importance is acknowledged by every tribe because it provides them with food and means to cure illnesses and gives them strength. The color of the guarana fruit is ruby-red and it is known as the strongest stimulating substance, with aphrodisiac qualities and with high caffeine content.

The unique characteristics of the guarana extract refresh and invigorate the hair. It also has a moisturizing and strengthening effect after each application.
